Re: Notice of Monetary
Determination
Date Mailed: 08/04/2022
Appeal Date: 08/15/2022
Claim Effective Date:
07/31/2022
Program: UI

This Notice of Monetary Determination is to inform you of the wages used by the Division to calculate your monetary eligibility for unemployment benefits. Your benefit amount is calculated on base period wages reported by your Employer(s). Your base period is 04/01/2021 through 03/31/2022.

Per Nevada Revised Statute (NRS) 612.025 [1], the base period is defined as the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the effective date of your initial claim for benefits. For additional information regarding Alternate Base Period eligibility, contact Nevada Telephone Claim Center.

Your benefit year is a consecutive 52 week period beginning the effective date of your claim. Benefits may be paid for any period you are out of work during the benefit year, as long as you have a remaining benefit balance.

If a person does not meet the wage requirements by using the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters, then an Alternate Base Period claim may be established using the last four completed calendar quarters.

Per Nevada Revised Statute (NRS) 612.025 [2], the alternate base period is defined as the last four completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the effective date of your initial claim for benefits.

Receipt of this letter does not necessarily mean that you are qualified for unemployment benefits. Its purpose is to advise you of the benefit amount you are entitled to if you are meeting all other eligibility requirements for unemployment benefits. See the Nevada Unemployment Insurance Facts for Claimants booklet for more information about eligibility issues and the method used to calculate your benefit amount. This booklet is available on-line at <https://ui.nv.gov>.

Carefully examine the wages which were reported by your employer(s). Errors or missing wages could reduce your benefits or prevent you from qualifying for unemployment benefits. If the information below contains errors, omissions, or reported wages not earned by you, you are responsible for notifying the Division. Your written request must include the reason that you disagree with the determination. Include your name, social security number and any proof of work such as copies of paycheck stubs, W2 forms, etc. Failure to provide accurate information may result in the overpayment of benefits for which you may be responsible for repayment.

Please be advised that Military, Federal Government or wages from another state will be shown as pending until the wages are received. These wages are requested at the time you filed your claim. You will receive a redetermination when these wages are added to your claim. Please continue to file your weekly claims during this process.

NOTE: Unemployment compensation information may be requested and utilized for other governmental purposes, including, but not limited to, verification of an individual's eligibility for other governmental programs and may be subject to verification through computer matching programs with other agencies, pursuant to applicable federal and state law, including 20 C.F.R. § 603.11, NRS 612.265, and the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. § 552a.

To protect your benefit rights, please download and read the Nevada Unemployment Insurance Facts for Claimants Handbook located at ui.nv.gov

You have the right to file an appeal. In accordance with NRS 612.485, the last day to protest this determination or request cancellation of this claim is 08/15/2022.

After your Unemployment Insurance (UI) claim expires or exhausts, you may be eligible to receive an additional 53 weeks of benefits under Pandemic Emergency Unemployment Compensation (PEUC). After your PEUC claim exhausts, you may be eligible to receive up to an additional 20 weeks of benefits under State Extended Benefits (SEB). In order to receive these additional benefits you must take action on ui.nv.gov or call the telephone claims center at (702-486-0350, 775-684-0350, or 1-888-890-8211) to file for PEUC or SEB. All other eligibility requirements must be met in order to receive additional PEUC or SEB benefits.

APPEAL RIGHTS AND INFORMATION

If you disagree with this determination you may file an appeal. An appeal must be filed within 11 days of the date the decision was sent to you.

You may request an appeal date extension, if you did not file your appeal timely; however, you must show good cause for the delay in filing. You may appeal by writing a letter to the address shown below. Your appeal must include the reason for appealing, the employer name, your social security number, and your signature. If an interpreter is needed, please include this request in the appeal letter. If you need additional information please contact the Telephone Claims Office at (888) 890-8211.

Your last day to appeal this decision is 08/15/2022. You may appeal this decision by sending a fax or letter to:

IMPORTANT

The primary method to receive Unemployment Insurance (UI) Benefit payments is via the Nevada Unemployment Way2Go Debit Card.

You have the option to receive your benefit payments in the form of a paper check. In order to receive benefit payments via the check option, you MUST contact the Unemployment Insurance Support Services (UISS) Office at (775) 684-3802 within three (3) business days of receiving this notice. Please be aware that benefit payments made by check may be delayed due to additional processing and mailing time. If you do not contact the agency as outlined above to request the check payment option and choose to activate this card, you are agreeing to accept payment of Unemployment Insurance Benefits via a prepaid debit card.

If you have previously received your benefit payments via check and want to change your payment method back to the prepaid debit card, please contact the UISS Office at the number shown.

FRAUD

FAILING TO REPORT WORK AND EARNINGS IS A CRIME IN NEVADA

When you begin work, you begin earning income. The week you start work, you must begin reporting that income, although you may not receive a pay check for two or more weeks.

If you are caught failing to report that you have worked when receiving unemployment benefits, you will be disqualified for up to a year; you will be required to pay the benefits back with interest; your wages may be garnished and you may be PROSECUTED.

Top 10 Things you should know...

about Unemployment Insurance when filing your claim in Nevada.

Unemployment Insurance (UI) provides temporary assistance to qualified individuals who meet eligibility requirements of each state.

Each person who collects UI benefits is legally responsible for making sure s/he follows the rules set by state law.

The Nevada Unemployment Compensation Law provides insurance and lightens the burden for "persons unemployed through no fault of their own."

Keep these top ten things in mind when filing for UI benefits to ensure accurate and quick payment of benefits.

1. Accurately Report the Reason You Are Unemployed. When you file your claim for benefits, provide the UI office with the exact reason for your separation so we can best determine your eligibility. Failure to report your work separation accurately may result in an overpayment and/or fraud penalties.

2. Report Any Wages You Earn. You must report all gross wages (before any deductions) in the week they are earned, regardless of when the wages will be paid. Failure to report wages is considered fraud, which is a felony in Nevada. Be sure to accurately report all earnings on your weekly claim certification - even those from self-employment, part-time, or temporary work.

3. Keep your Information Current. The United States Postal Service will not forward UI Benefit Payments, Debit Cards, and other important UI related documentation. It is a requirement that you change your address when you relocate (even within the same city and state) and keep your telephone number up to date.

4. Register With Nevada JobConnect. Unless exempt by law, you must register with JobConnect to be eligible to collect UI benefits. JobConnect provides valuable resources for your use including job referrals, resume building and re-employment services. www.nevadajobconnect.com

5. Be Available and Actively Searching for Work. In order to collect benefits, you must continually verify that you are able, available and willing to accept suitable work. You must also search for work each week you file a claim for benefits. If you do not search for work during a week in which you file a claim, benefits may be denied.

6. Develop an Effective Work Search Plan. Contact a Nevada JobConnect office for help with creating a work search plan.

7. Avoid Errors and Ensure Proper Payment of Benefits. To prevent errors in payment of UI benefits that may result in an overpayment, read all of the information provided to you when you file your claim.

8. Don't Delay - Report Your Return to Work. Be sure to report your hours and earnings on your weekly claim if you continue claiming benefits after you start a job. Do not wait until you receive your first paycheck to report your hours and earnings. If you have returned to work full time or are earning more than your weekly benefit amount, you can simply stop filing weekly claims.

9. Follow the Rules to Prevent Committing Fraud. Anyone who collects UI benefits is legally responsible to know and follow the requirements set by State Law. Failure to follow the rules can result in serious consequences such as repaying benefits with penalties, forfeiting a future income tax refund, losing future eligibility to collect UI benefits, prosecution, or the possibility of a jail sentence.

10. Ask For Help. Navigating through the UI system can be confusing. If you have additional questions, please visit our website or contact a Telephone Claim Representative for assistance.

Nevada's Unemployment Insurance work search requirements

Did you know you are required to keep a record of your work search activities each and every week you file for benefits?

What is considered an acceptable Work search activity? Some acceptable work search activities would be to use the employment resources that are available at your local JobConnect office or Career Center. Another acceptable work search activity is to visit a job site or the employer's place of business and submit an application in person. Other acceptable methods would be to attend job search seminars or job fairs, use online talent platforms, professional networking sites such as LinkedIn and online job boards like Indeed, CareerBuilder, Monster etc. Remember to document your work search activities by keeping copies of e-mails, flyers, online job postings, you've applied for or confirmation of your online application acceptance.

What is not considered an acceptable work search activity? An unacceptable work search activity would include duplicate postings of your resume on a job search website, submitting your application repeatedly to the same employer even though work is not available, or listing a job lead you just viewed on a website with no action taken.

Work search records can be found online at:

1. What are the work search activity requirements to remain eligible to receive UI Benefits in Nevada? After you file for and are determined monetarily eligible to receive unemployment benefits, you must continue to make an active effort each week to find suitable employment while receiving benefits.

2. What happens if I do not look for work during a week that I filed a weekly claim for benefits? Failure to engage a thorough work search activities (through seeking and applying for employment) may affect your eligibility and may result in a denial of benefits.

3. How do I look for work each week? You can seek work by visiting a job site and completing a job application in person with employers who may be reasonably expected to have openings. Other methods of seeking work include, but are not limited to: submitting a job application and/or resume in response to a public notice or want ad; or use online talent platforms, professional networking sites such as LinkedIn and online job boards like Indeed, CareerBuilder, Monster etc. You should be seeking employment with employers who may reasonably be expected to have openings.

4. What are the work search activity requirements for Nevada?

You MUST make a good faith effort to seek work the majority of each week you file for Unemployment Insurance Benefits and you must keep a detailed written record of work search activities you perform each week. You should keep emails, flyers, confirmation pages, and any electronically submitted information as proof of your efforts. You may be required to provide this documentation periodically. Failure to provide your work search activity records when requested may result in a denial of benefits.

5. How do I maintain a work search record? We recommend you use our work search activity record available online at <http://ui.nv.gov>. You MUST provide your written work activity search record and any supporting documents as proof of work search activity efforts. Each record must include, at a minimum a date of contact, business name, contact name, phone number and address, type of work seeking, method of contact, and the results of the activity.

6. Do I need to register for work at a Nevada JobConnect in order to receive UI benefits? If you are a Nevada Resident, you must register for work with a JobConnect office or register with the State Workforce office where you live to be eligible to collect UI benefits. If you are a member of a hiring hall union, you do not need to register with your local JobConnect office. However, you must seek work as prescribed by your union.

7. Do I need to register for work if I do not live in Nevada? If you live out of Nevada, you are required to register for work with the state employment office where you reside. You may be asked to provide proof of registration, and failure to provide proof may result in a denial of benefits.

8. At what point do I need to begin looking for work? Your work search MUST begin the week in which your claim was filed.

9. Will Nevada check my work search activity records? Yes, Nevada verifies work search activities. We may ask for evidence of your work search efforts at any time, including a work search activity record and supporting documentation. You must, therefore, keep an accurate and detailed record of your weekly work search activities including confirmation pages of online applications.

10. What happens if I cannot provide evidence of my work search activities? You are required to keep a record of your work search activities for two years. The Department may request evidence of your work activities search at any time and if you do not have all the details of your work search activities, you MUST provide an acceptable explanation as to why the information is not available. Failure to provide evidence of your work search activities may result in a denial of benefits until the requirements of the law have been met.
